

INTERNET IMAGE PROJECTOR

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention is directed to a projector which includes a network interface for receiving presentation data over a network connection and a projection system for projecting received presentation data onto a projection screen which is separate from the projector and which is disposed so as to reflect the projected image. Preferably, the network interface and projection system are disposed within a single container.

FILED IN 15 OCT 2000